Editorial:

Over the years we have learned several things about Poster Stamp collectors. We have learned that if we make an editorial mistake, there are those who will rise to the surface like snapping turtles and attempt to tear your editors heart out. We are happy to report that our heart still continues to beat. There are other collectors who buy Poster Stamps blindly and religiously avoid buying any helpful literature. Unfortunately this allows uninformed or unscrupulous sellers to ask outrageous prices for common material. Then there are some informed master collectors who hoard their knowledge until the the day they die, and then leave their great collections to baffled relatives or worse yet, they leave their collections to museums where the material never sees the light of day again. This is not cool. So, dear reader, we urge you to write about your collecting passion while blood still flows in your veins and share your knowledge with others, especially your editor.

On the other hand there are master collectors, may Allah be praised, who have contributed so much information to the rest of us. We honor them. The following names come to mind: Alan Jackson, Charles Kiddle, Nick Follansbee, Tommy Steele, Manfred Zollickhoffer, Chris Chatfield, Ed Flory, Stewart Gardiner. Lotte Maier, and no doubt, there are many others. We urge our membership to become acquainted with these folks. We are confident that their contributions to our hobby will increase ones appreciation immeasurably.

MOTHERS TO HONOR

Of the following mothers presented here only one is well known today because her son painted a portrait that is known as "Whistler's Mother." We venture to say that one could count on the fingers of one hand those who know who Mary Ball was or Nancy Elliot or Nancy Hanks. Well, thanks to your editor you will now learn who they were and some others as well.

MEET CHIEF TEEHEEZEL (1883 to 1939)

As a young lad Ford Sterling joined the circus as a clown. Later he became one of "Mack Sennette's Keystone Kops who played the role of Chief Teeheezel for 25 years. He was an enormous success until Charlie Chaplin came to Hollywood to become an immortal sensation. However, it should be noted that during his life time Ford Sterling made 270 films.

A CHALLENGING TOPIC

A well known and somewhat popular topic among philatelist is one where a postage stamp is featured on a Poster Stamp. We have presented some of these in our auctions in the past. What is unusual, however, is a Poster Stamp that features another Poster Stamp. We have found two and there may be more.

A ROMANTIC INVENTION

In 1907 Ole Evinrude, an immigrant from Oslo, Norway, developed the first outboard motor boat engine in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He was inspired to do so by an event that took place on the banks of Lake Okauchee near Milwaukee, in 1906. He took Bessie Cary for a picnic across the lake in a row boat. After they landed about one and a half miles from the far shore, Bessie expressed a desire for a dish of ice cream. The gallant Ole, anxious to please her, rowed across the lake to bring his love a dish of ice cream. Of course, it had turned to warm soup by the time he rowed back to her. It was at this time that Ole determined to invent an outboard motor that would replace the oar. Shortly after that picnic Ole married Bessie Cary. Then, in 1909, Ole designed a 1.5 hp detachable out board engine that could be mounted on the back of a row boat. It was an instant success when it was first introduced to the public. As the following sheet of 12 illustrates, Evinruding now goes on all over the world. Oh, happy day!

THE LOTTERY

The logic of every lottery participant is as follows: Someone is going to win the lottery. It could be me. If I don't buy a ticket, it will never be me. Therefore, I need to buy a ticket.

This makes perfect sense unless one is a mathematician or has an I. Q. above room temperature. We heard a mathematician on the radio once discuss the wisdom of the lottery in general terms. He said, "I love the lottery because it is the best way for a corrupt society to punish the stupid." We also love the lottery because some very lovely vignettes advertising the lottery have been issued.

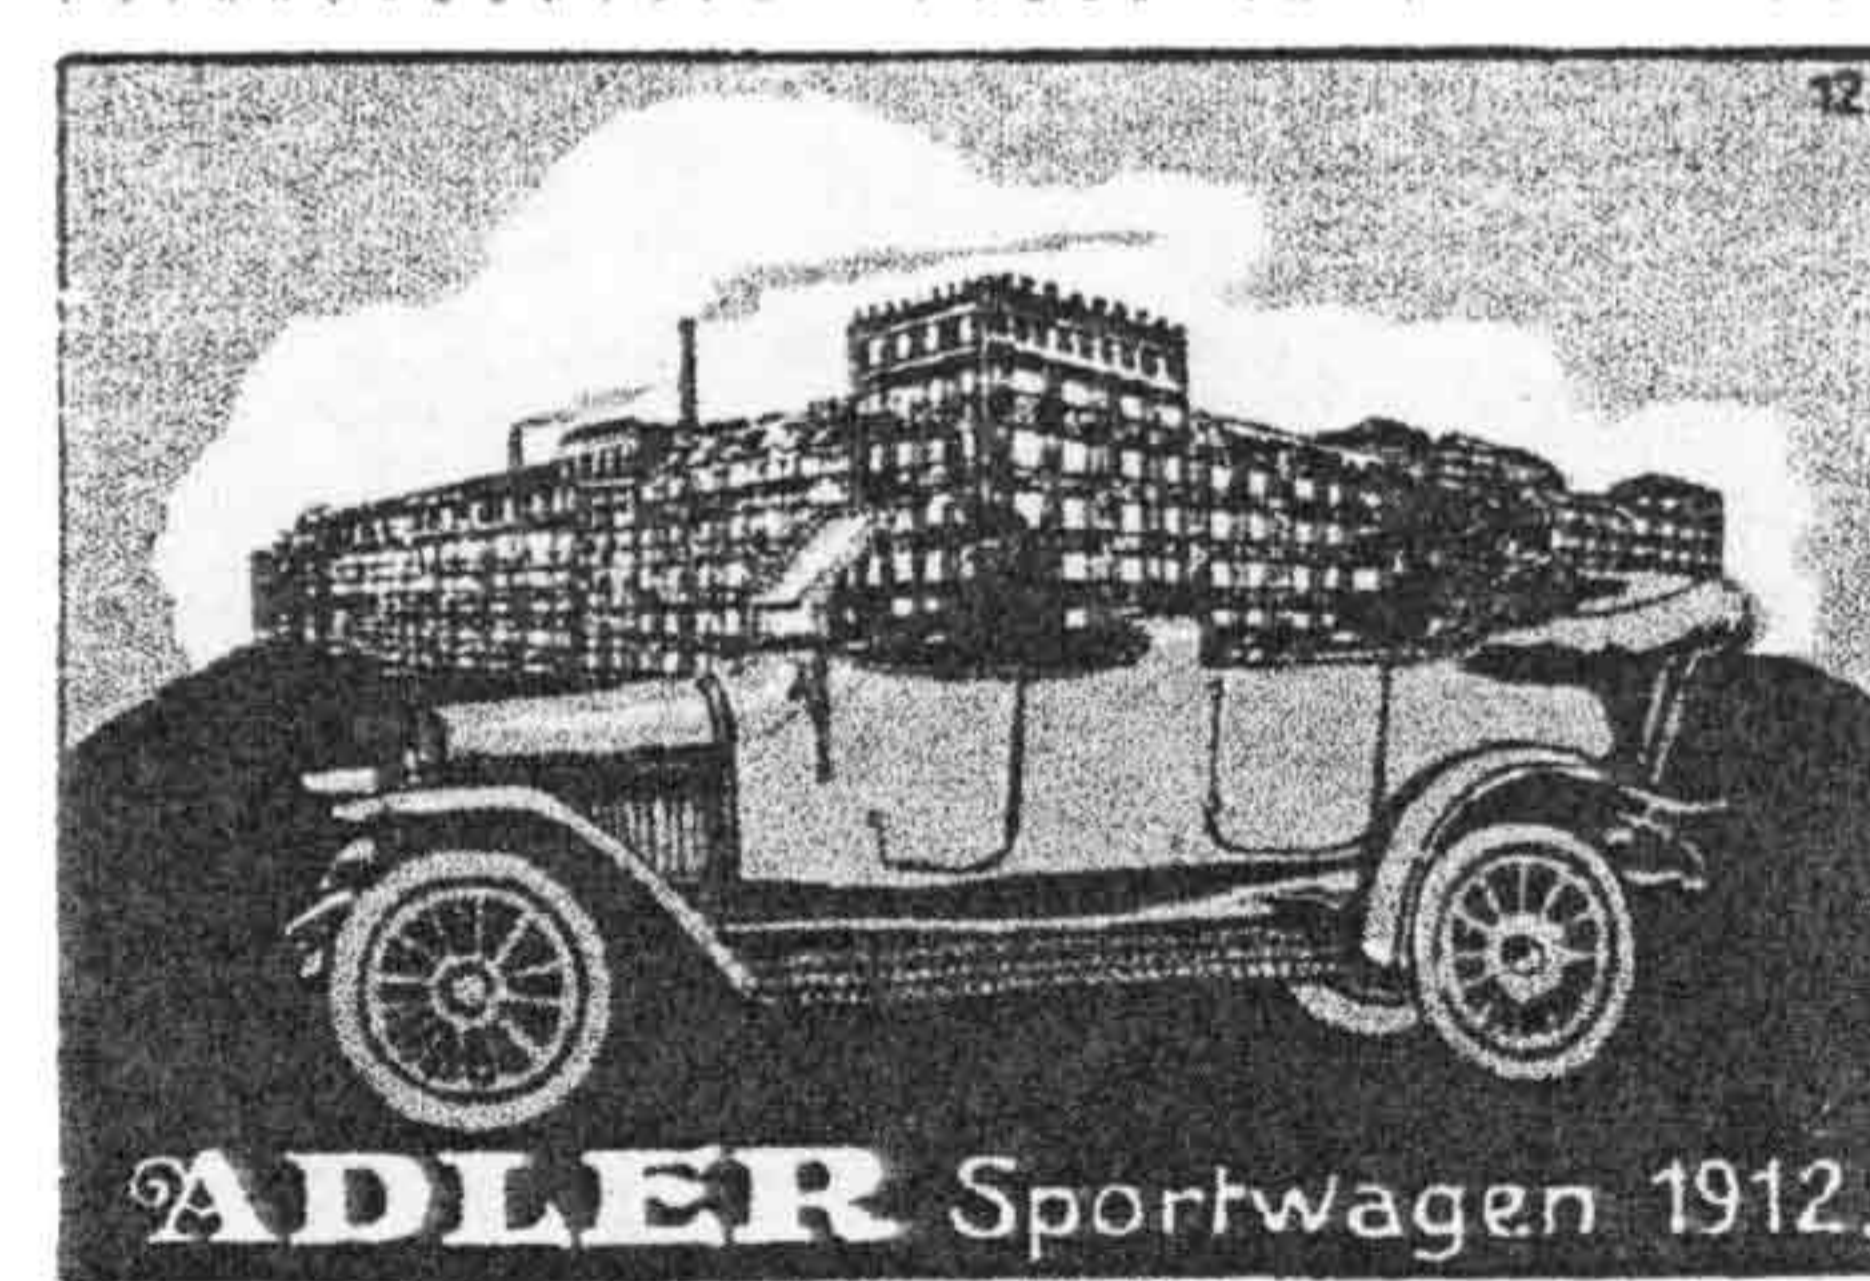

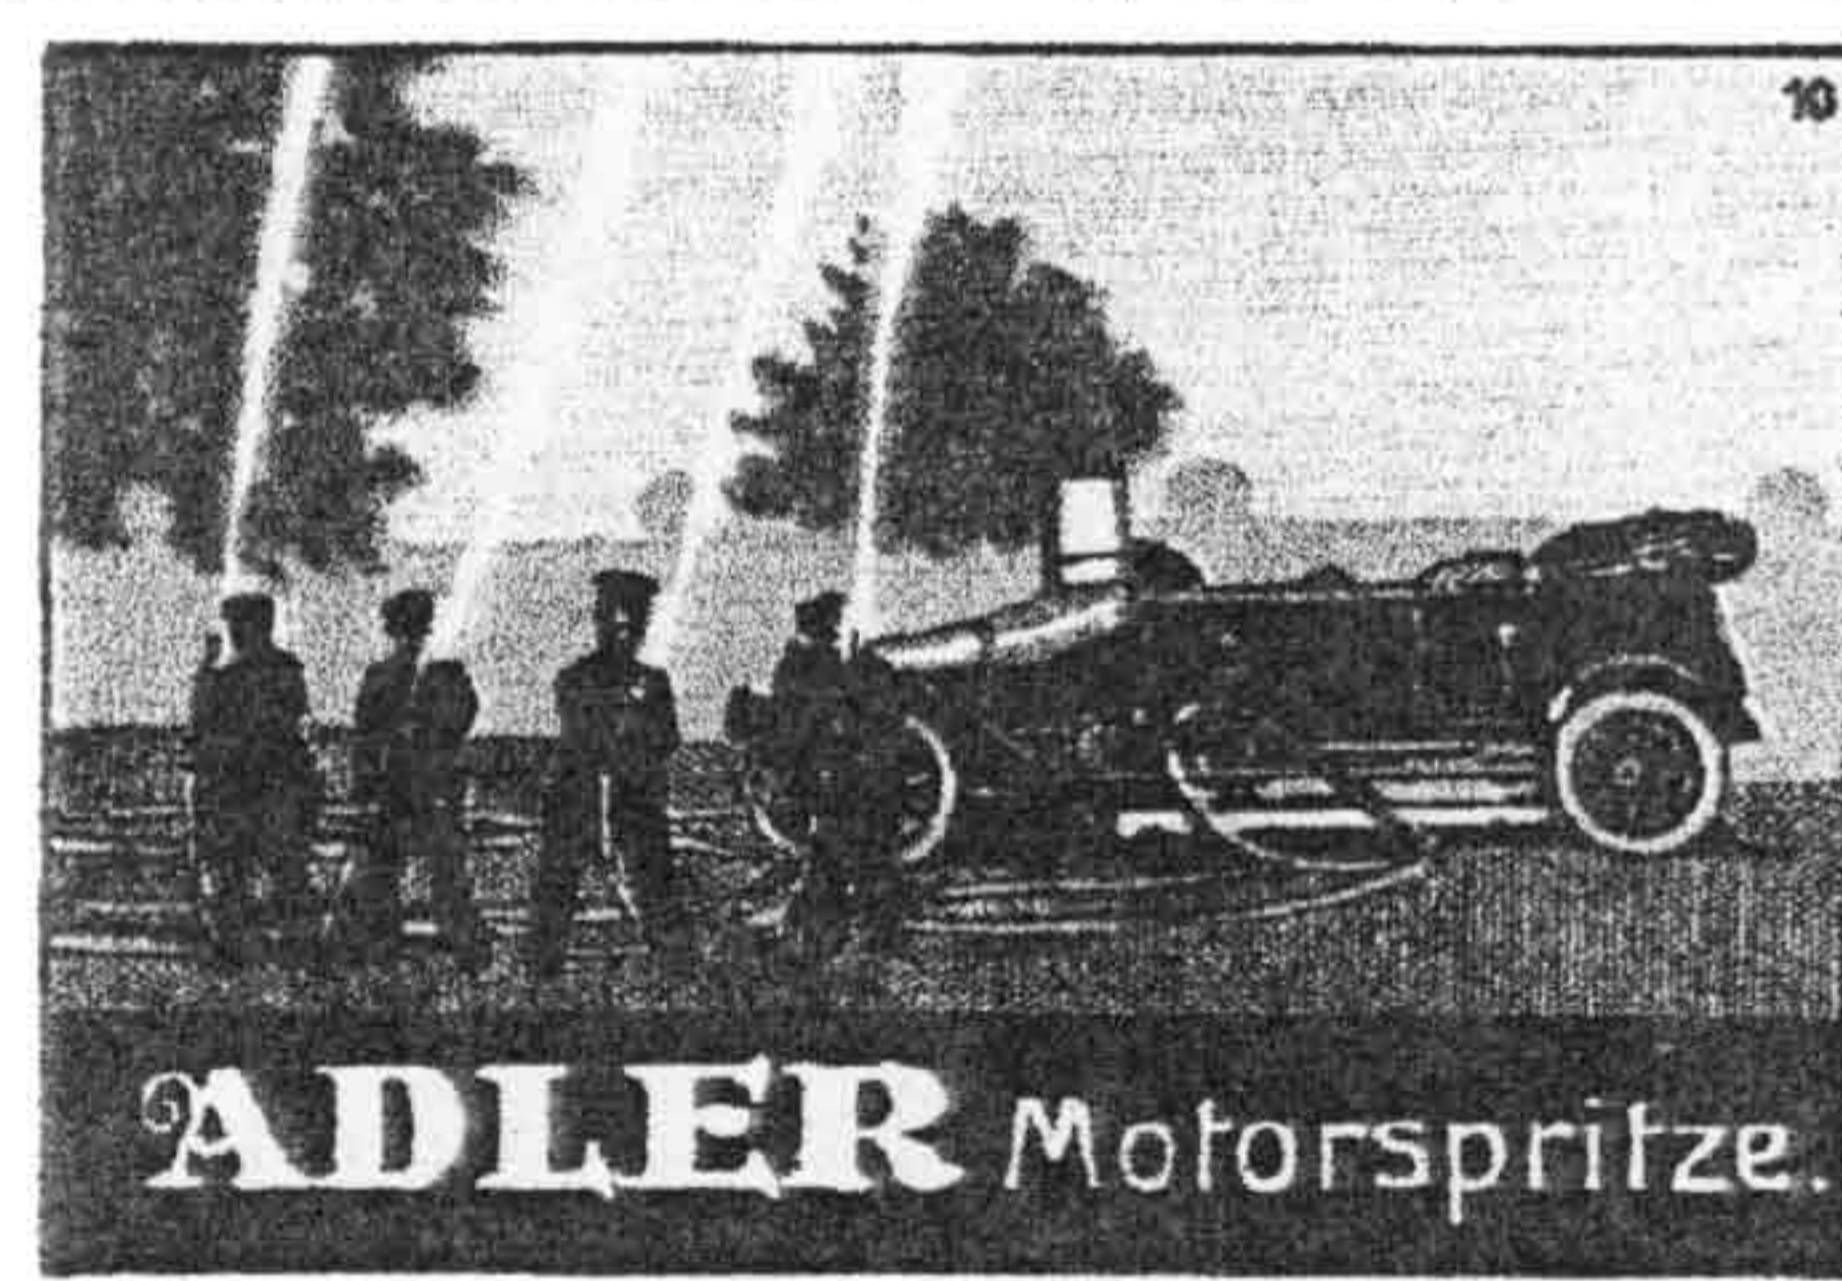

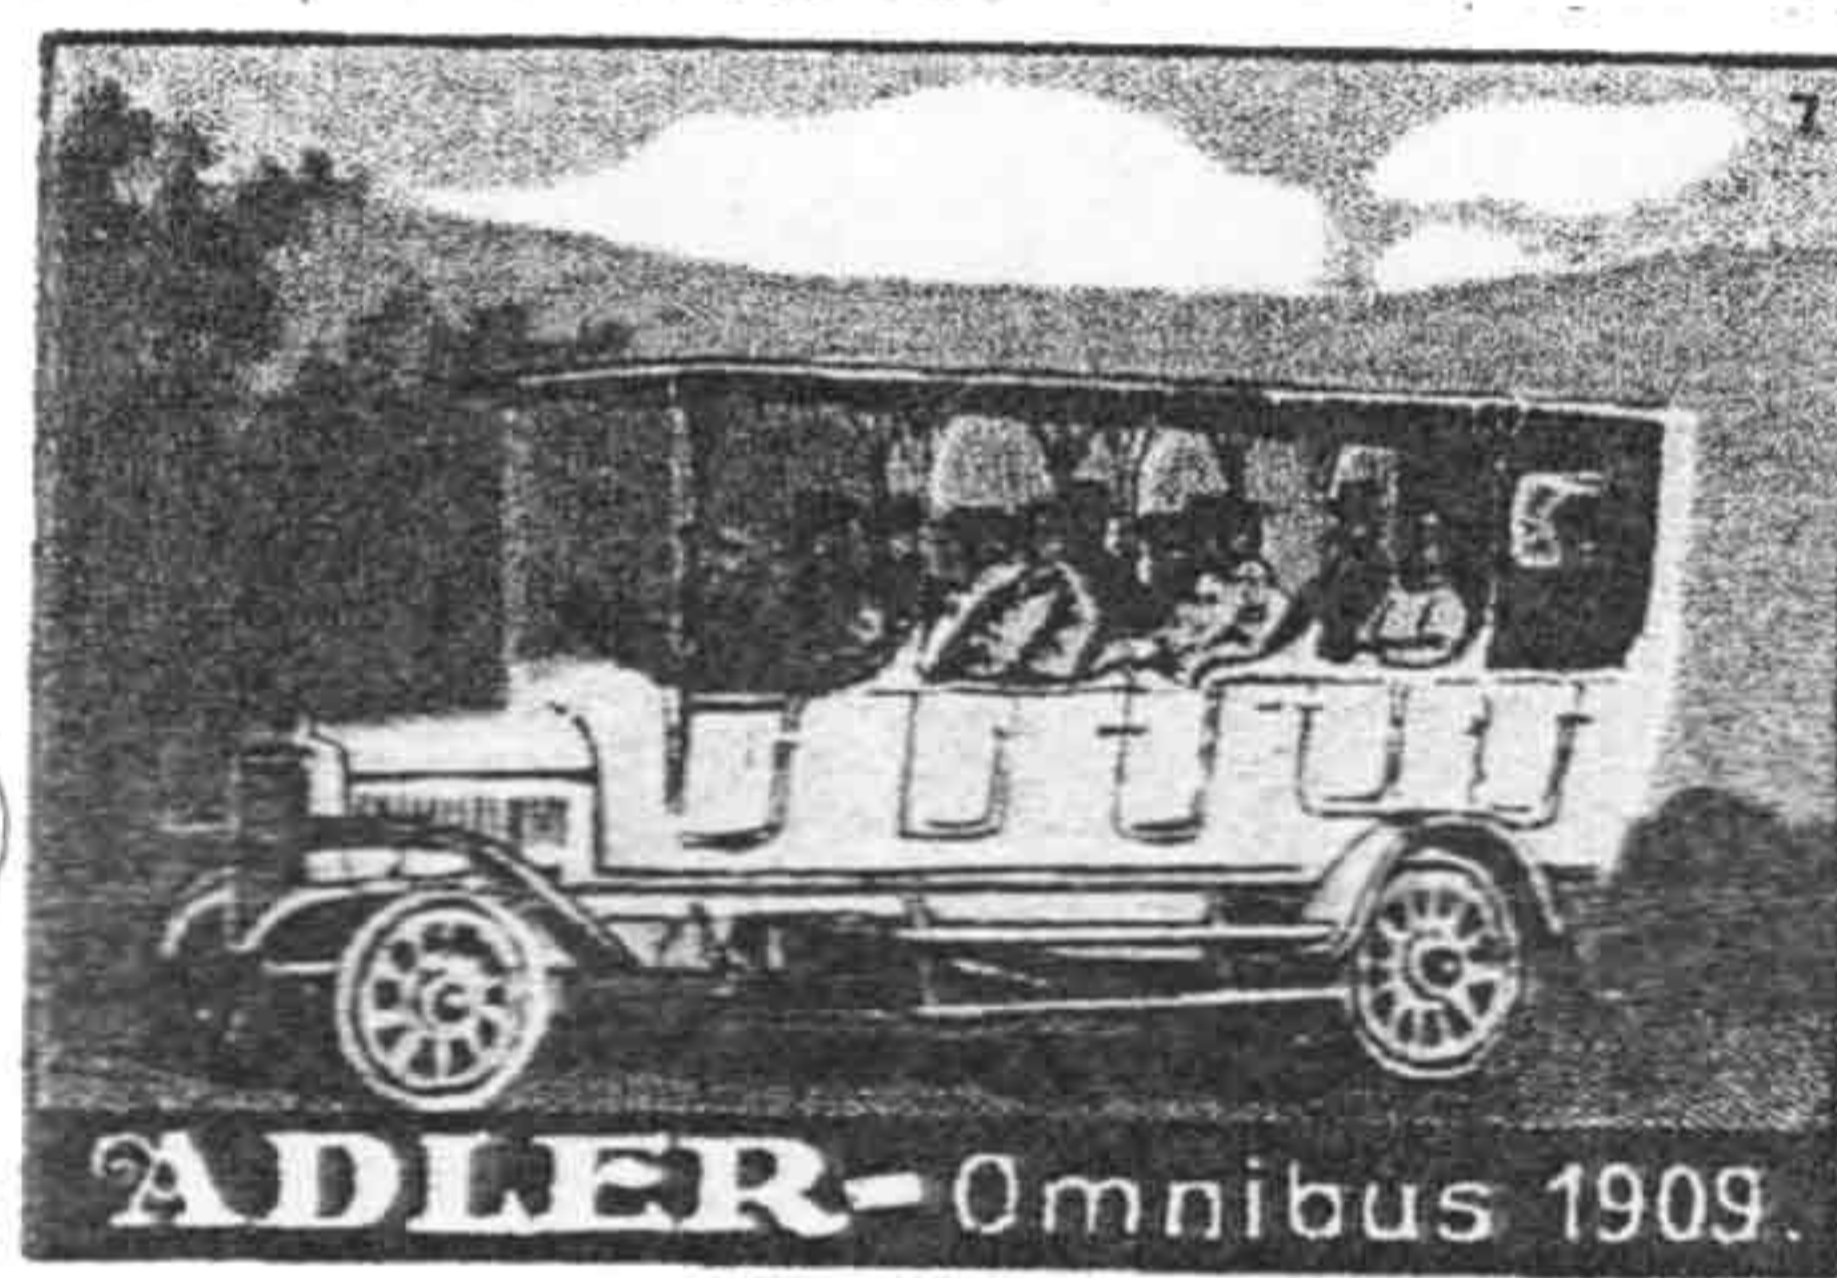

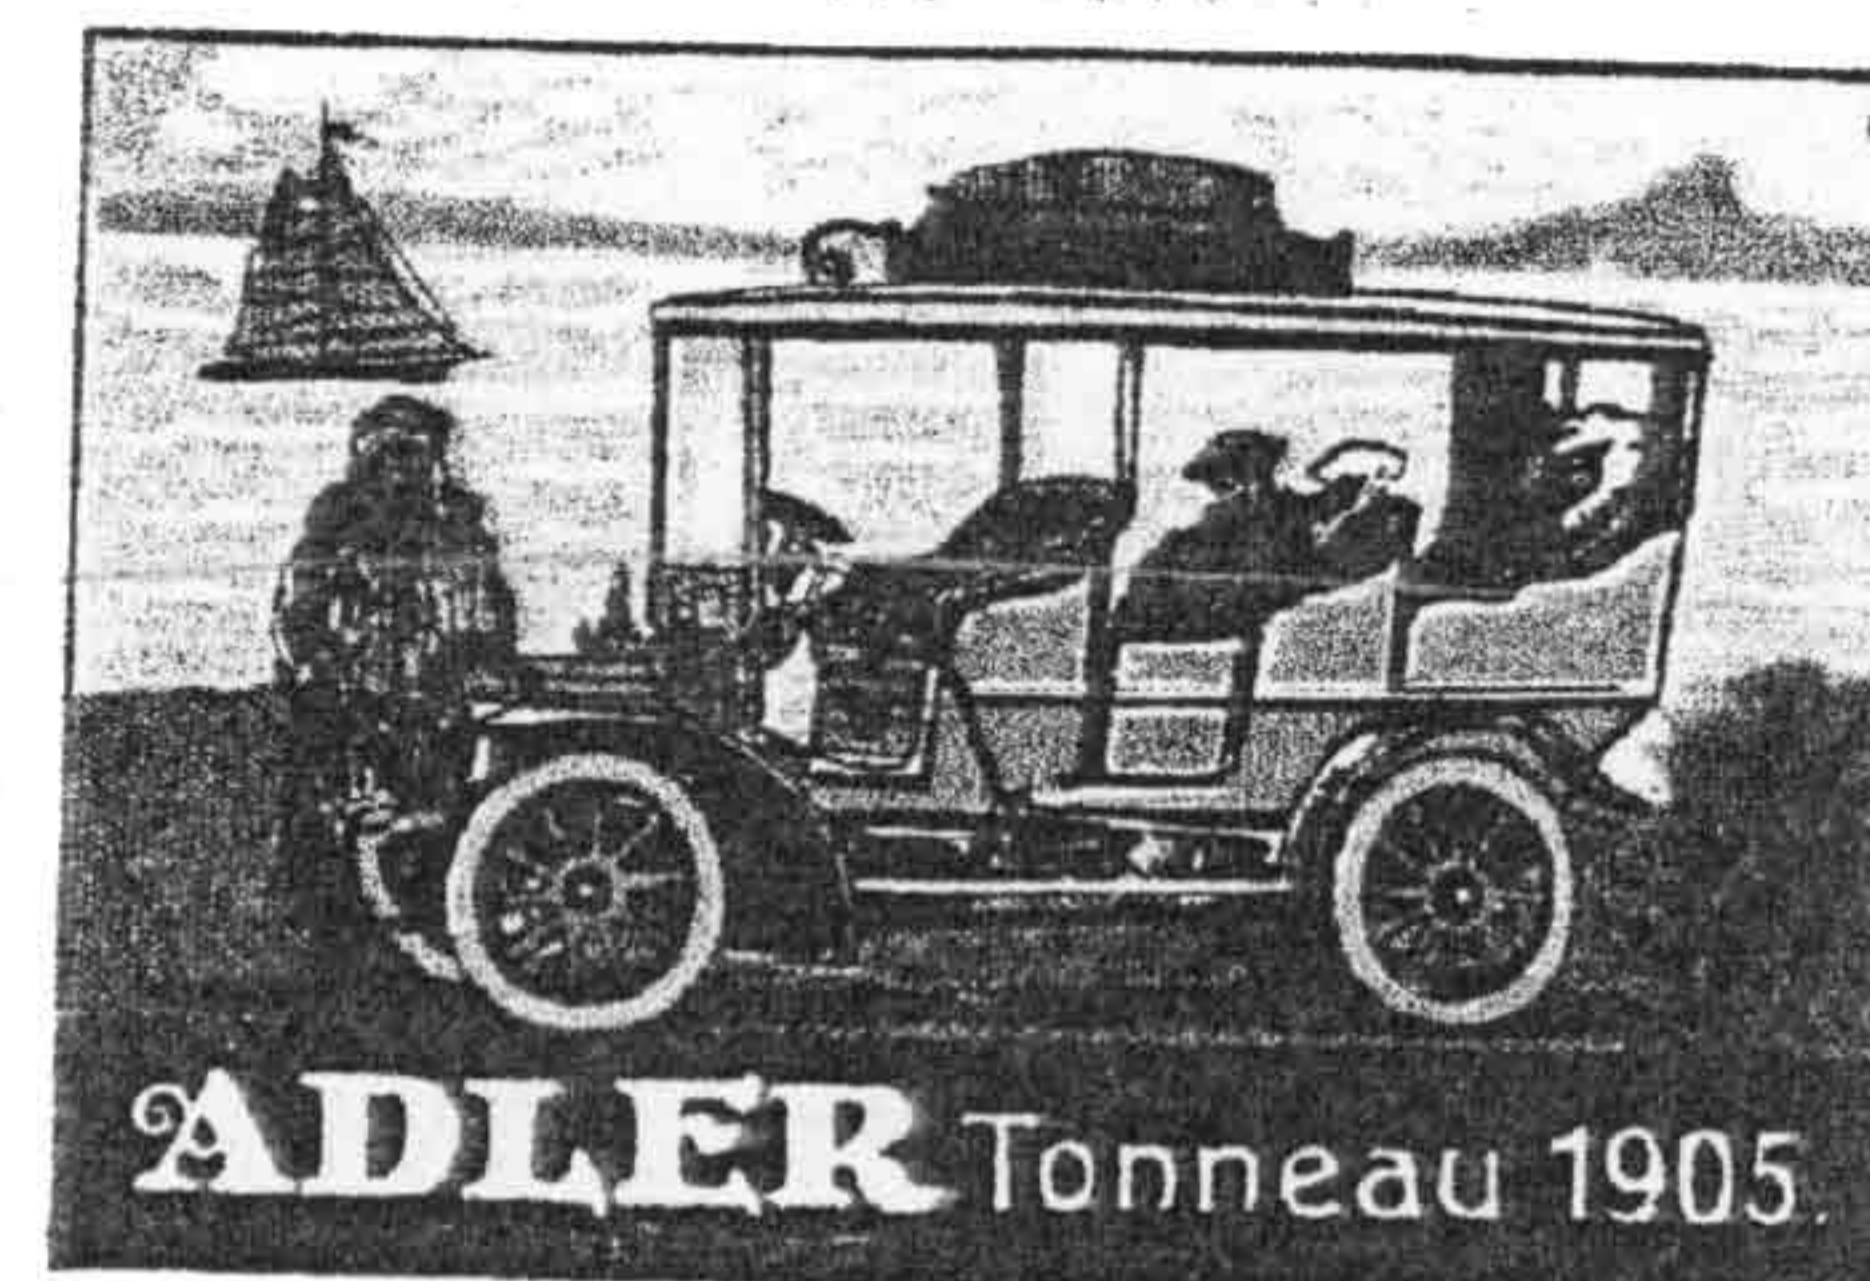

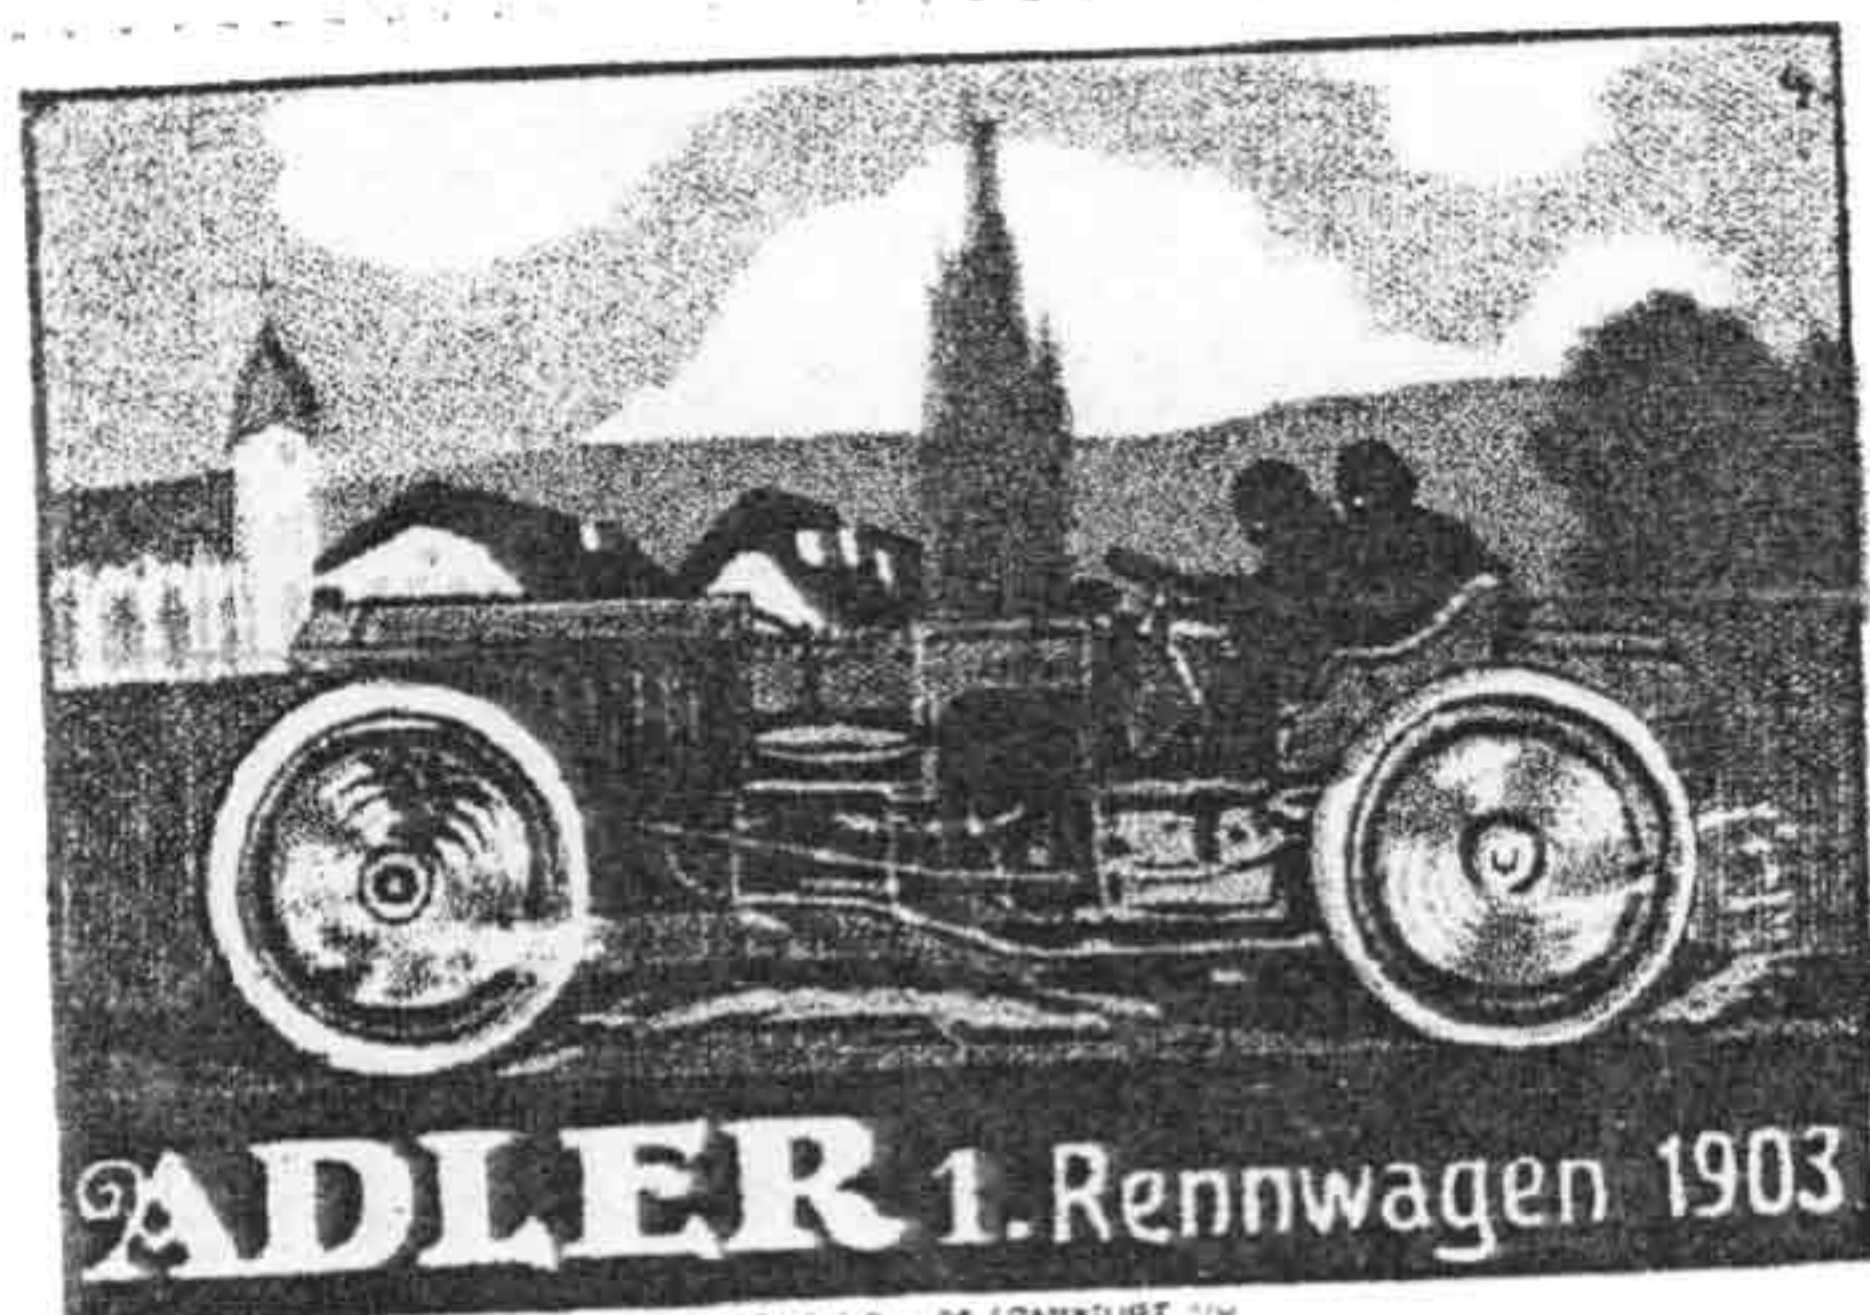

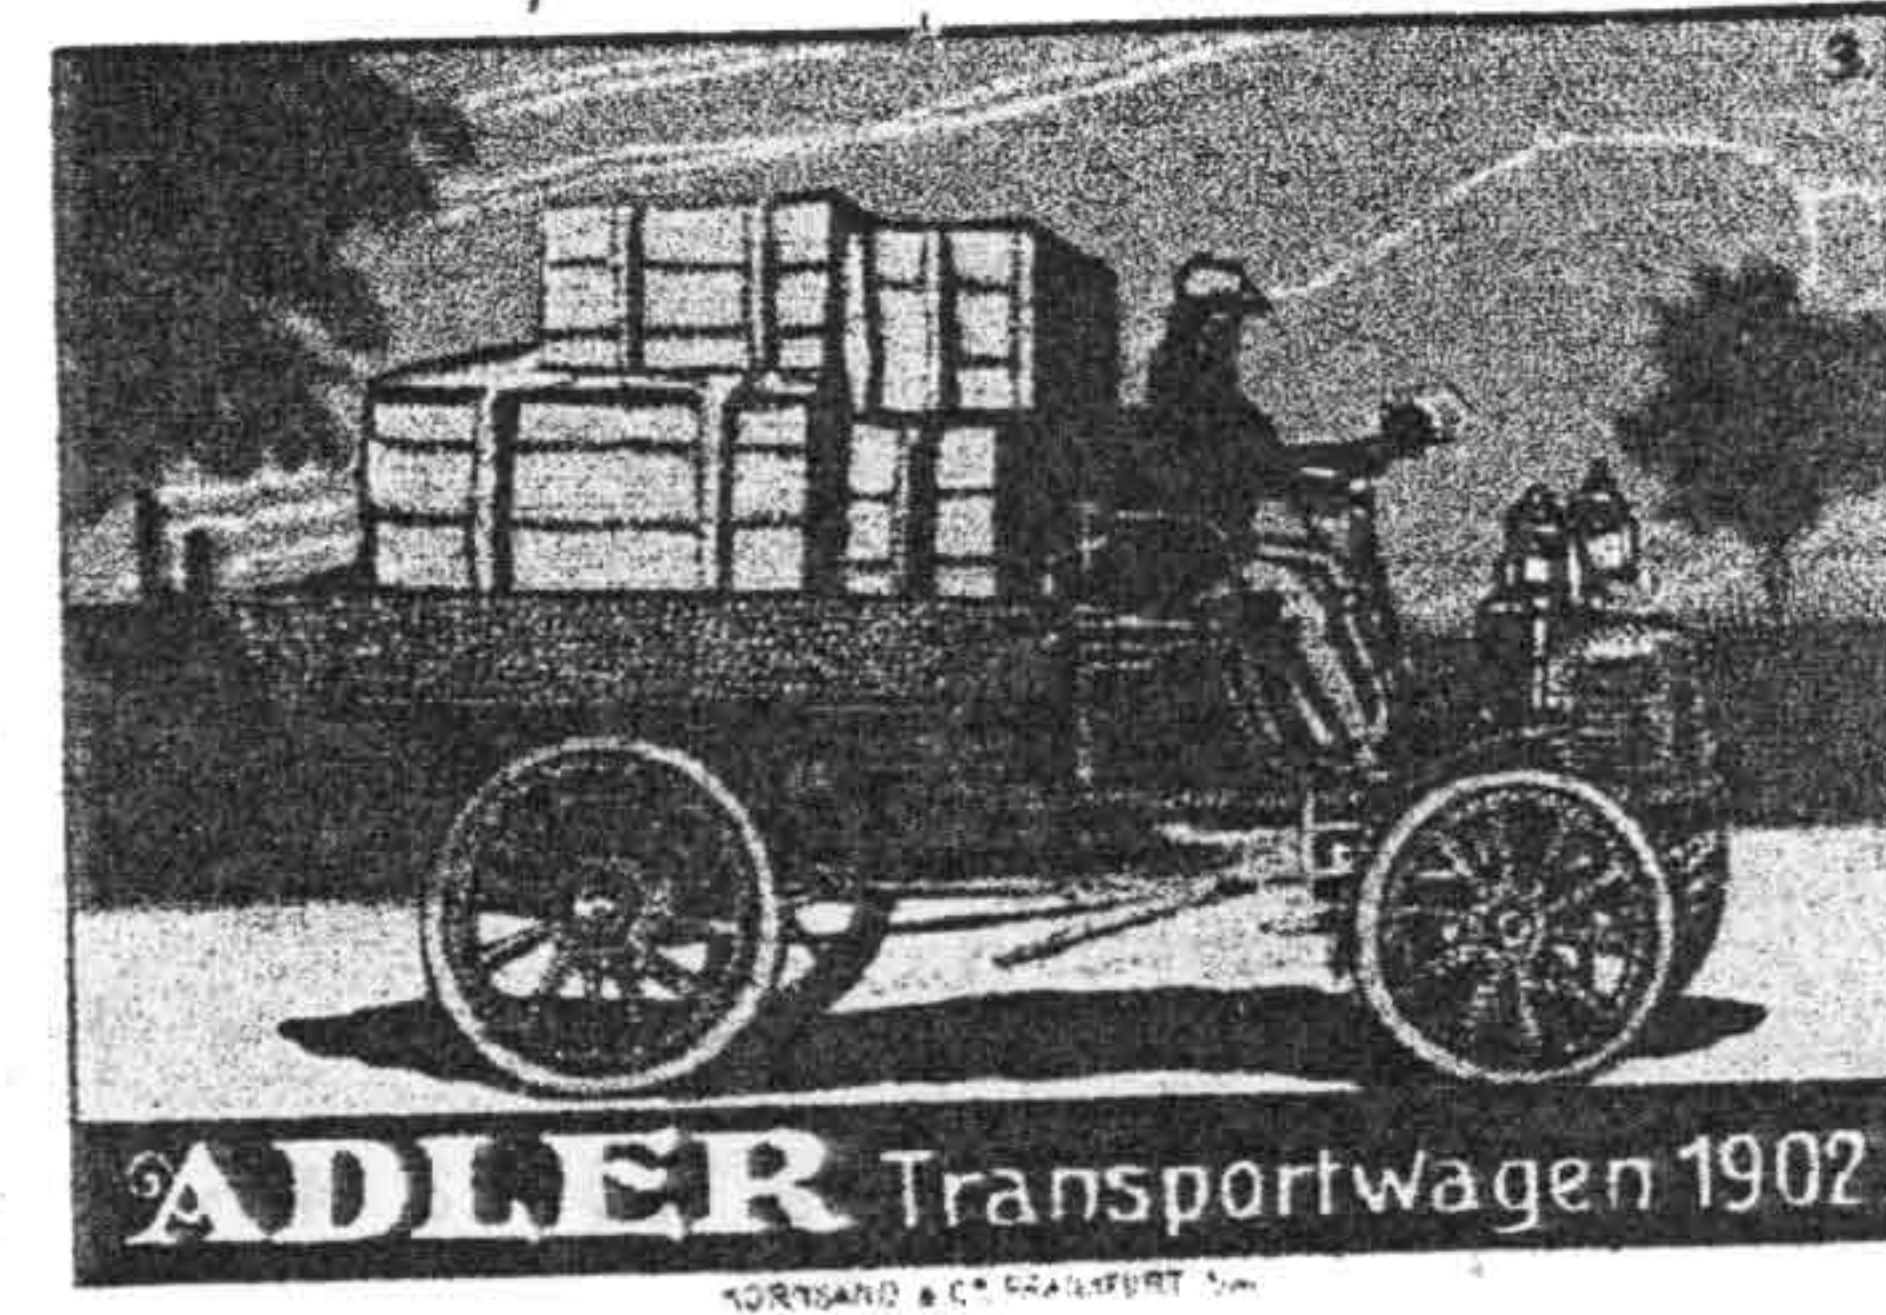

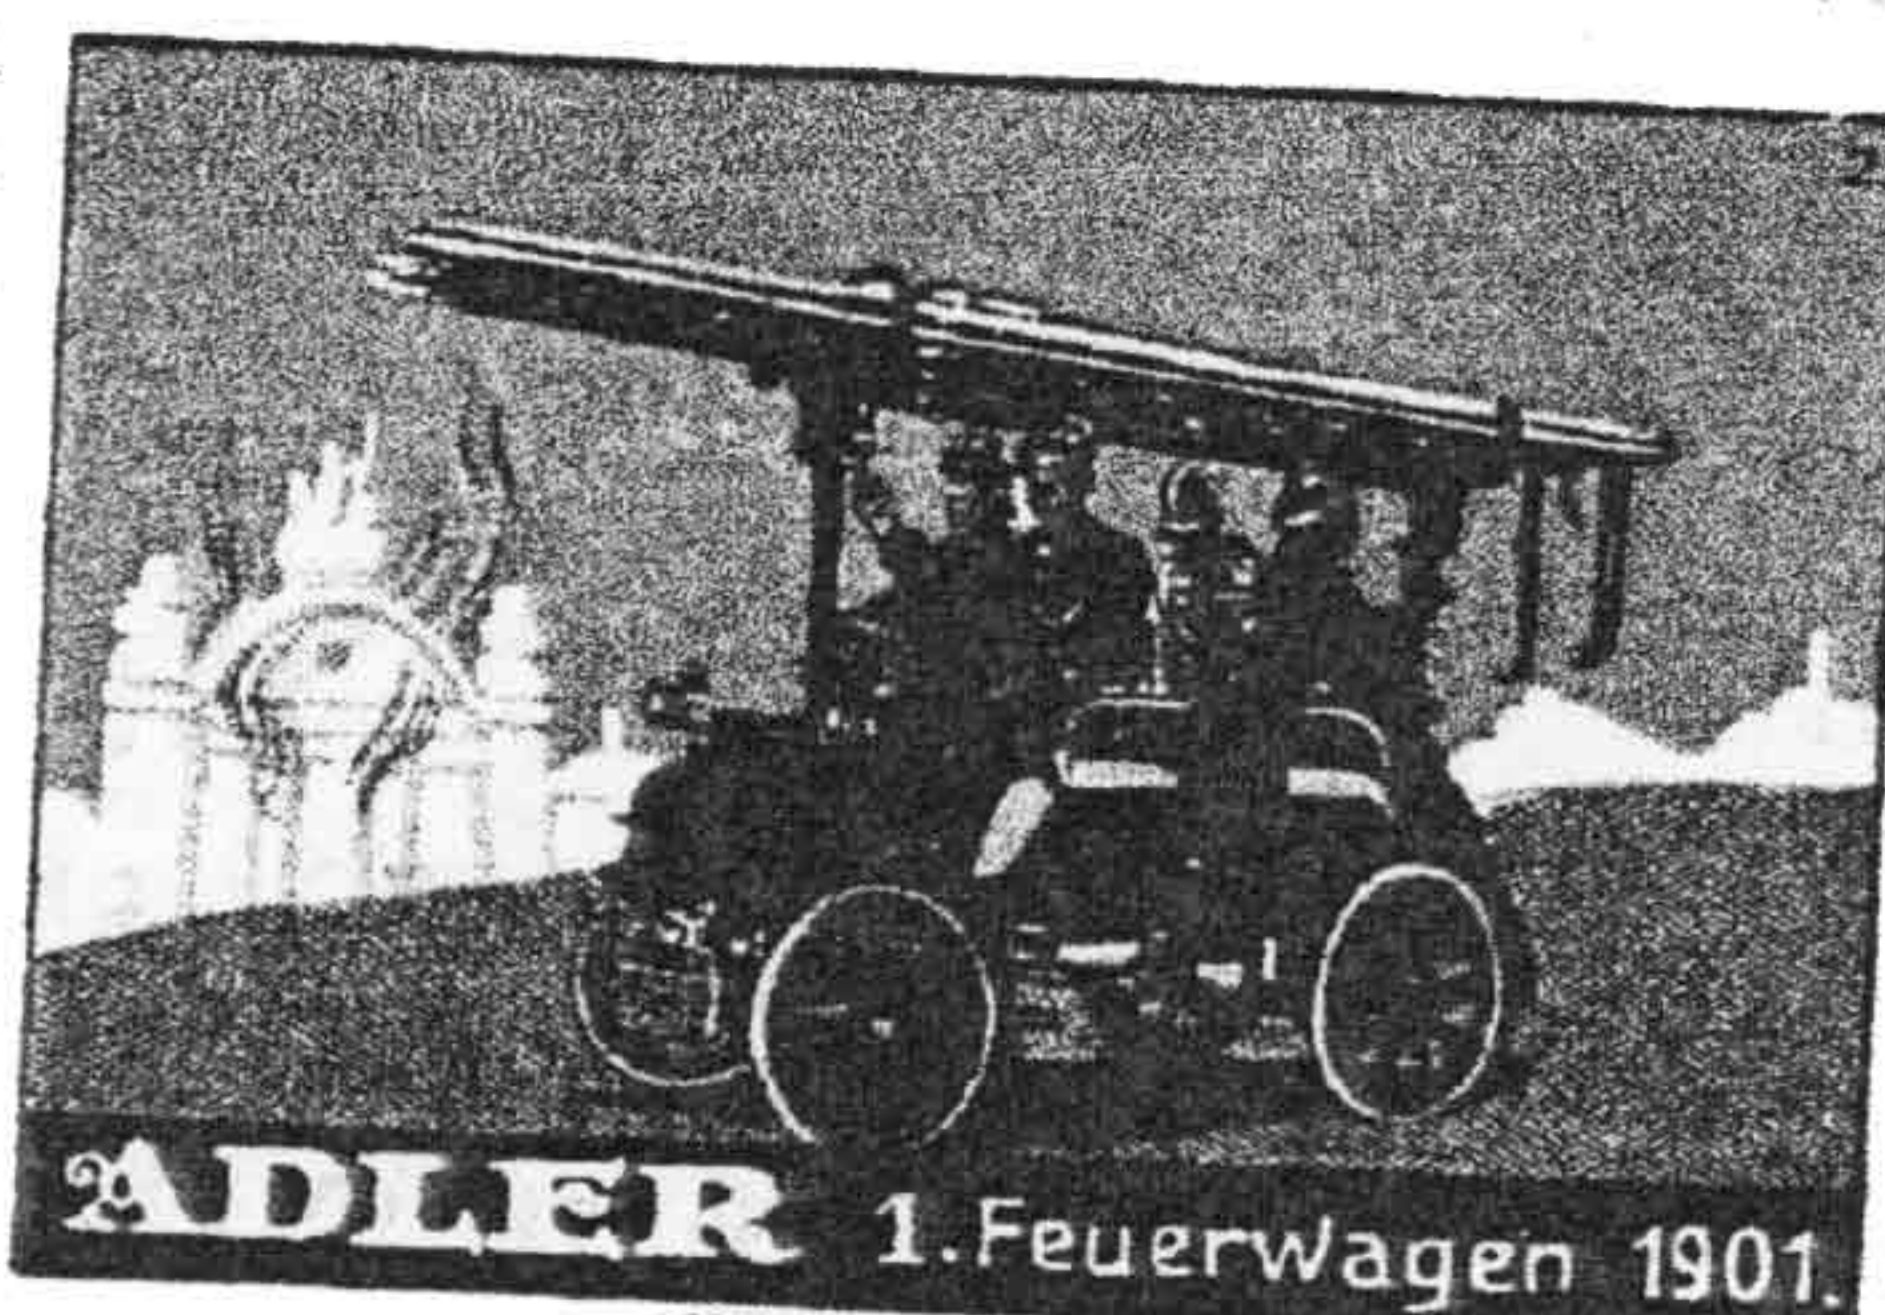

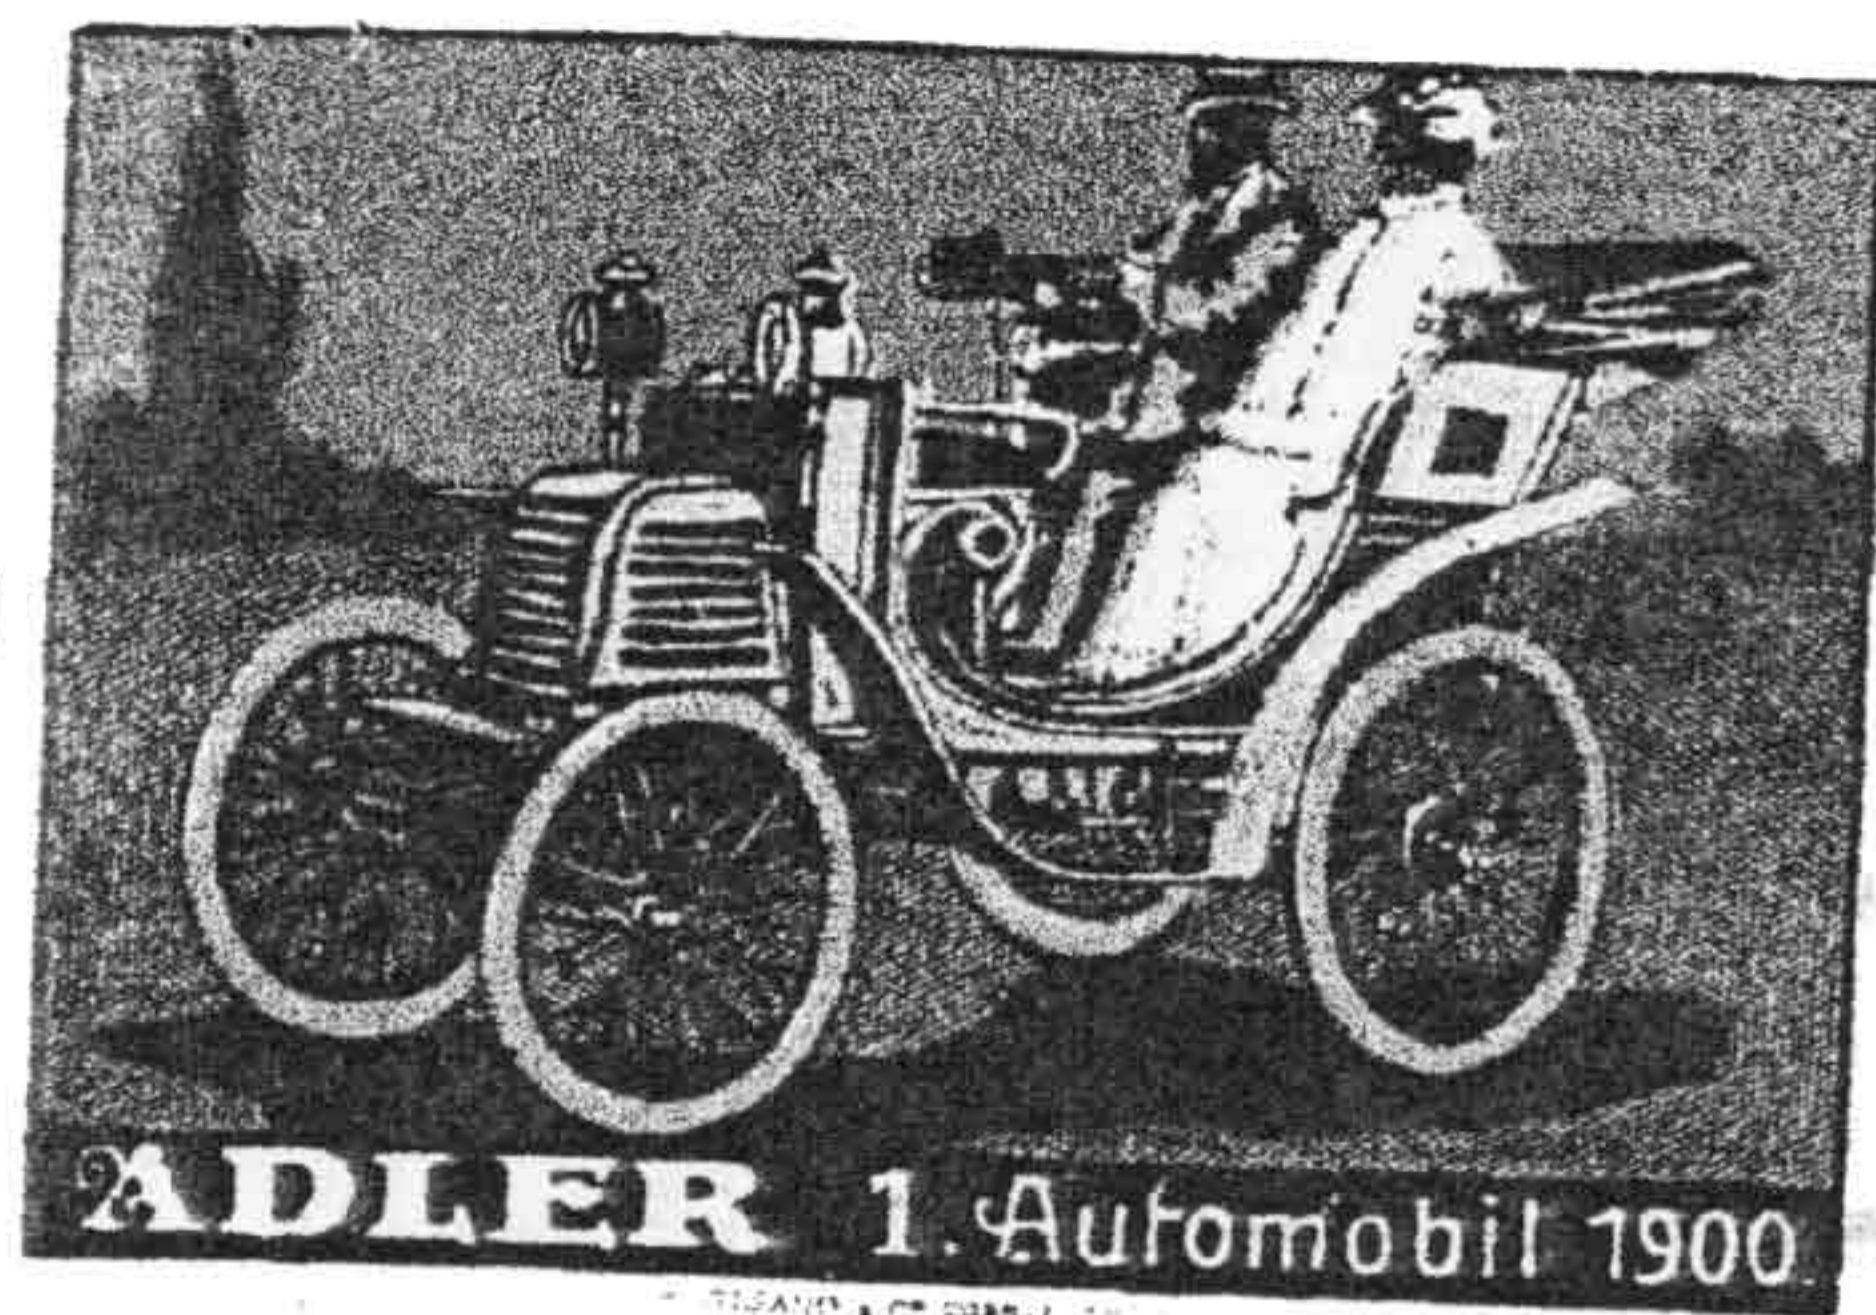

SAD NEWS

Charles Kiddle has just informed us that our friend Manfred Zollichoffer has died. He will be remembered not only for being a most knowledgeable collector, but for writing the definitive catalogs on beer and tobacco vignettes. Rest in peace, dear friend.

THE "GOODIES" FROM ENGLAND AUCTION

Here is more proof that our hobby has more diversity than was ever dreamed of by anyone. The following auction material comes from Merry Old England, and to the best of our knowledge, most lots have never been offered in any of our prior auctions. This is amazing, simply amazing. The vendor has kindly made some helpful comments concerning each lot. It should be noted by all that this is not a light weight auction. Some of this material is very special indeed. Our usual auction rules apply. All lots will be sold for one step above the second highest bid. The ten day return policy is in effect and the first responder will break tie bids. The auction ends on the last day of the month.
